McCarty Tells Plans

Seeks Bus Service For Church Schools

New Superintendent of Education K. G. McCarty said this week he intends to use county school buses to pick up children living on a county bus route and attending local parochial and private denominational schools if possible.

McCarty listed St. Rose de Lima, St. Joseph Academy, St. Stanislaus and Christ Episcopal Day School which are not now serviced by county school buses. He explained he had no control over buses used by the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District.

"I can't tolerate a religious bigot and I think it is a shame that a county school bus passes right by a little child and doesn't pick him up," McCarty said. McCarty refers to a state law which prohibits use of county school buses in transporting students not attending county and state supported schools.

"It might take another legislative session, but I'm going to do all I can to repeal that law," he said.

"I intend to pick them up and I'm going to make a way," McCarty stated.

McCarty served as education superintendent from 1936 to 1944 during which he campaigned for the now free textbooks used by the parochial schools.

Hospital Equipment Bids Of $43,500 Are Approved

Hancock County Supervisors accepted $43,500.15 worth of bids Thursday afternoon for furnishing and equipment for the new Hancock General Hospital scheduled to open sometime in April.

Hospital Superintendent Tom Logue said approximately $48,000 had been allotted for equipping the plant by the Mississippi Commission on Hospital Care in Jackson. He noted that several items were not bid on, but expressed pleasure that the equipment valued at $52,000 will be purchased economically, adding that additional equipment

Rides Curve at 100 MPH

1st Fatal of Year

Hancock County's first traffic fatality of 1960 occurred about 1 a.m. Friday when an Amore, Ala., man died after his auto, traveling at a high rate of speed, crashed into a tree near the Washington Avenue-Old Spanish Trail intersection after missing a curve on the trail, according to city police officer Raul Telhard who investigated.

In another accident four construction workers on the Jordan River Subdivision were still being treated at Hancock General Hospital at press time for injuries sustained when their pickup truck overturned today at Highway 603 and old Washington Street.

Leon Z. Phillips, 46, died shortly after 5 a.m. Saturday at Hancock General Hospital from multiple injuries sustained in the wreck. His car, a 1956 Buick Sedan, was demolished, and when found by Telhard he was bleeding profusely from the nose and mouth. He was pinned between the seat and dash board, according to Telhard, and officers and bystanders, drawn by the noise of the crash, had to pry the victim loose with a fence post before he could be moved to the hospital. He never regained consciousness. Officers estimated his speed at the time of the impact at least 100 miles per hour.

Phillips was alone, Telhard said, and the force of the impact was so great it drove a number of tools from the rear

North County Group Asks Agent's Ouster

Hancock County Agent Howard Simmons, usually hired on a yearly basis, was appointed for only a 30-day period as of Jan. 13 by the board of supervisors at its Wednesday morning session after some 12 farmers representing Beats, 2, 3 and 4 petitioned that Simmons not be retained.

Final action on the matter which had apparently been brewing for several months was postponed until the 30 day period ends but the petitioners were verbally assured by the supervisors that Simmons would not be rehired, Beat 1 Supervisor Charles Russ was not present because of a death in his family.

A major complaint from the farmers, led by spokesman Randolph Seal, was that Simmons had refused aid to about 80 of the county's 90-odd dairy farmers in a milk price war on the coast area market.

Fitzhugh Lee, Beat 4 farmer and chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, asked the board to investigate complaints before reaching a decision, asserting that the petition was prejudiced and not representative of many county farmers.

The farmers demanded an immediate commitment from the supervisors on not rehiring Simmons but were pacified with the 30-day extension after E. E. Deen, southeast district agricultural extension supervisor, invited by the supervisors to attend the meeting, explained this delay would allow the department to work out placement problems. Deen explained he did not have firing or hiring duties but could only recommend agents to the board. He noted it is department policy to hire on a 30-day basis.

Waveland Negro Shot; Two Held

Two Waveland Negroes are being held in the county jail as a result of the fatal shotgun shooting Wednesday morning of John L. McGee, 48, Waveland Negro, in Middletown, a colored settlement near Waveland.

Gus Rudolph, 55, was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder and James Scott is being held as material witness pending a verdict of the coroner's jury which had not been rendered Thursday afternoon, being postponed for further study following an on-the-scene investigation. Jurors are Harold Stigler, Edward Necaise and John J. Kachler of Bay St. Louis, John Fayard, Willie M. Boyd, Negro, and Wilmer Lewis, Negro, of Waveland.

Wednesday's shooting is the first of 1960 in Hancock County but the third in the past six weeks. Tybert Francis Ward died from a .45 caliber slug Dec. 5, 1959, allegedly fired by F. H. Jessup, and Harold Page was killed by a single shot from a .22 caliber rifle Dec. 20 believed to have been fired by Mrs. Loretta Spiers.

Investigating at the Waveland case were Sheriff Gerald V. Price sr., Deputies John J. Kachler and Forest Necaise and town marshal Fred Bourgeois.

Eye witnesses told officers that McGee entered Rudolph's place shortly before 9 a.m. Wednesday and demanded a rifle said to have been refused to return the weapon until McGee paid the debt. McGee then threatened to kill Rudolph, according to witnesses, left the establishment and returned with another .22 rifle. They said he stood in the doorway pointing the rifle at Rudolph who ducked behind a counter, crawled along the floor, got a .12 gauge shotgun and shot McGee, the blast knocking him through the open door.

Emile G. Piazza, coroner, said the Negro was dead when he arrived at the scene shortly after the shooting, apparently from a wound in the chest just above the heart. The body was taken to Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home and transferred to Baylous Funeral Home in Piquette.

Landing Ramp Site at Yacht Club Supported

Plans for a municipal small craft landing ramp on Bay-Waveland Yacht Club property northwest of the present club harbor were supported by club trustees Wednesday night in a joint meeting with city and county representatives.

August Scalfidi, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce committee chairman, said work on a physical survey of the property to determine boundary lines will begin immediately. After a ramp has been designed to fit the property it will be submitted to the yacht club board for approval.

Final approval on the proposed ramp will have to come from holders of the club's first mortgage certificates, Commodore J. E. Erwin explained. Bay St. Louis City Attorney Dan M. Russell Jr. explained that the city has the legal right to develop and maintain a municipal ramp, but it could not begin construction without a substantial property lease from the yacht club.

Building Value Doubles in City

The value of building permits issued by the city of Bay St. Louis in 1959 was more than double the amount issued in 1958 and more than triple that of 1957, according to figures compiled by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

In 1959 a total of $1,156,207.00 was issued. In 1958 the total was $506,358.15 and in 1957 $367,762.45. Twenty-nine new homes were constructed in the city at a cost of $153,400.00 during 1959.

Industrial Prospects

According to a news release last week, 61 new industries moved to Mississippi last year. In addition, even more industries expanded their operation. Hancock County did not share in this industrial growth.

The municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, as well as the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, have advertised this county. The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has taken steps toward interesting businesses in locating in our county. It has undertaken a survey of the labor potential; it has heard speakers who were familiar with the problem; help of the state A and I Board has been sought. In short, the Chamber of Commerce is doing something, whether enough it is too early to know.

We would still like to see a locally financed development corporation formed and the greater the number of subscribers the better. Somehow people seem to take a more active interest if their own money is at stake.

Our Fingers Crossed

Generally speaking 1959 was a prosperous year throughout this country, and the so-called experts are predicting even greater things for 1960, financially speaking. But there's many a slip between the cup and the lip and industrial strife in the form of strikes can quickly change the picture.

The recent strike in the steel industry is a good example. Not only did it adversely affect the steel companies and their workers, it financially hurt, directly or indirectly, very distant businesses. Hancock County has three weeklies located in non-industrial communities a couple of hundred miles from the nearest steel mill. The steel strike hurt them. Because of the lack of steel automobile manufacturers had such limited production that they cut the advertising of their new models drastically during a period when usually they advertise heavily.

Even more was the adverse effect felt indirectly, and this is the way most of us are hurt by major, industry-wide strikes. For instance, appliance dealers couldn't obtain in time for Christmas many things fabricated of steel. While the Echo was not directly affected, indirectly it was because the dealers who might have advertised had nothing to advertise, and these merchants didn't make the profit to enable them to buy the new house, send Aunt Minnie a bigger turkey or buy their wife an extra dress.

Essentially all of us, even the most remote, suffer when there is a major strike, perhaps not as much as the workers or their employers, but we get hurt. There may soon be a nation-wide strike of railroad employees. Keep your fingers crossed about 1960 prospects.

Quitting advertising to save money is like stopping the clock to save time.

Every now and then an advertisement has particular appeal to someone. Such was our reaction to a New Year's Eve ad of Seagram Distillers. The ad read: "If you must have one for the road, make it coffee".

PASTURE FERTILIZATION

Is it too expensive to fertilize pastures in Hancock County? The answer to this question depends on what you are going to do with the pastures.

If you are going to use the pastures to produce meat or milk for market, it is too expensive not to use fertilizer. But if you don't plan to sell anything from your pastures, then it is too expensive to fertilize.

Remember this, Management must go with this investment in fertilizer if it is going to pay off. For more information on pasture management, fertilization and weed control, come by or call this office. The telephone number is HO-7-4631.

DAIRYING IN 1960

The national picture in dairying has been a decrease in cow numbers with an increase in total milk production. There has also been a decrease in numbers of farms, but an increase in cows per farm.

Here in Mississippi, we must increase the milk we ship. But we must do it by increasing the amount of milk we get from each cow, rather than adding more average or low producing cows.

Feed costs, milk prices and fertilizer costs have remained about level during the past few years and are likely to do so in 1960. Machinery costs, wages and fencing materials have continued to increase in price.

We must make more use of the low cost items - feed and fertilizer, but cut labor and equipment costs wherever possible.

Dairying will pay in 1960, if we watch: Feed costs, Production per cow, Labor costs.

My Favorite Prayer

By GEN. R. MCPATE
Commandant, U. S. Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

Lord God of Hosts, whose power is from everlasting to everlasting, and whose Name is above every name in heaven and earth: keep, we pray Thee, under Thy protecting care the Armed Forces of our country and all who serve therein.

Defend them amid violence on land or sea or in the heavens, and grant that they may be assured defense and a safeguard for the people of the United States and a security for such as come and go in peaceful and lawful pursuit.

In time of peace keep them from evil, and in the day of conflict suffer not their courage to fail: that they may guard the American heritage against those who would destroy or straiten the liberties of government by the people, and to the end that the blessings of religion and law may be preserved to posterity. Through Christ our Lord, (A Prayer for the Armed Forces)

Washington Report

U. S. SENATE FROM TENNIS

January 9, 1960

Dear Friend:

At the beginning of this new year, and a new Session of Congress, I would like to discuss with you a few important matters of concern to us all:

FARM PROGRAM

Despite mounting surpluses and declining farm income, any sound major revision in the farm program is doubtful for this session. Both parties will make an appeal for the farm vote, but adoption of a really sound new program is unlikely because this is a national election year.

I shall continue my efforts for the establishment of an Agricultural Policy Commission to study and reappraise the entire farm program, and to make its recommendations for a new program after the elections this year.

There is some talk of enlarging the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank, but I do not favor extending this program in its present form. It has been costly and has failed entirely in meeting its primary objective, the reduction of agricultural surpluses. The land taken out of production under this program has, in almost every case, been land not used in producing basic crops. This money could be far better spent in (1) increasing ACP payments, a sound and time-proven conservation measure, (2) expanding utilization and marketing research which seeks new uses for agricultural commodities, and (3) making agricultural commodities more competitive with synthetics and other substitutes.

MILITARY STRENGTH AND THE MISSILE GAP

More than two years have passed since the Soviets showed their superiority in missiles and rockets with the successful launching of Sputnik I. We have made some progress with our own program, but it has lacked the proper emphasis and direction, and we still trail behind the Russians in the science of rocketry. Worse still, we have made cutbacks in our manned bomber programs, including the B-70, and there will be a period of several years when we will have neither the missiles nor planes to match Russian military strength. This is the result of lack of leadership and poor use of defense funds appropriated directly for the purpose. No amount of political soothing syrup can replace our lack of military hardware and we cannot buy back the time already lost in getting our better promising missile programs under way. Certainly we can (1) increase production of the Atlas missile by authorizing overtime and double shift work instead of the present forty-hour week; (2) push the Polaris program with all possible haste; and (3) cooperate more effectively with our allies in using their missiles whenever their production can be increased. This is the very least we can do to narrow a very dangerous period of military disadvantage in the field of advanced weapons.

There is much talk of an easing of international tensions and disarmament. I sincerely hope these desirable goals can be reached. But our only chance of attaining them is to be able to negotiate from a position of military strength. We must keep our guard up.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The settlement of the steel strike is inflationary. Although there may be no immediate effect, the price of steel will definitely rise in 1960 or early 1961. This will trigger another round of price and wage increases and further decrease the value of the dollar, and will result in a loss of steel markets, both foreign and here at home. We are building an economic wall around the United States. Our high prices prevent friendly nations from buying from us, and encourage foreign producers to manufacture more and more goods for sale abroad in order to meet growing demands.

As world trade increases, our exports shrink. Our prices are growing higher as our competitors are able to reduce costs through volume production and improved manufacturing methods. This inflationary trend must be reversed; industry, labor, government, and the American people must resist every step and every pressure to raise prices and wages. We must return to the basic economic concept of increased pay only for increased productivity or work. Our stake in this commercial trade war is as serious as our stake in the so-called cold war. We cannot afford to lose either.

While experts predict a boom year for 1960, these gains can be wholly lost by inflation. Economic growth must be measured in real dollars -- not paper script.

The American people have the right to expect protection of their salaries, independent incomes and savings from the unchecked ravages of inflation.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Unfortunately, much of the Senate's time will be consumed in debating the unconstitutional so-called civil rights proposals, while other matters deserving attention go neglected.

All true Southerners will oppose any such bill, but it is a question of how much support we will be able to gain from others outside the South. With the liberals in both parties trying to attract minority votes, our fight will be an uphill one.

Subdivisions Shoulda Gone Fishin'

BY EDDIE ENGELHORN

in County

Three new subdivisions will be opened shortly in Hancock County, two in Bay St. Louis, and one in Dantagnan of Dantagnan Co., has announced. Planning and preliminary engineering work has been completed on Graham Heights, according to the realtor, the first subdivision to be opened. It consists of 30 lots bounded by Dunbar, U. S. 90, Carroll Avenue and the Noto property.

The site was purchased from L. Genin, local attorney, E. Graham and Gail C. of Wichita, Kan., who are associated with Boeing Aircraft. Graham intends to make some here within a few years, he said.

Actual work on the subdivision began within 30 days, he said, and a street to be cut through the center has been started. It will have city facilities and blacktop and is within walking distance of the new school and hospital, he continued. Names of the other two subdivisions were not announced.

Unstable Dean's Deadline Motorists

Mr. G. Dean, Constable of Hancock County, has set Feb. 1 as the deadline for anyone possessing a license or driving without a license in that area. Dean says he has received complaints that there are at least 100 residents driving cars without state licenses and also there are many juveniles, as young as 13 years old, operating vehicles without a permit. Anyone in violation of these regulations after Feb. 1 will be fined according to law.

Clinton Church Property for Sale

Plans for the purchase of the site of St. Joseph Catholic Church at Pearlinton and the property are being sought by the Catholic Church, pastor, with the aid of the sale to go for $25,000. The tract, 350 by 90 feet, is on Highway 604 and is about a mile north of the present church. The old seven-room rectory on the present church and church officials want it to be moved or destroyed.

FATALITY...

(Cont. from Page 1.) A car driven by David Young, 25, of St. Louis, Mo., and Edward J. of Toccoa, Ga., were involved in a collision Monday on U. S. 90 and Main Street. The Young auto struck the rear of a small trailer pulled by a Roberts auto, according to Highway Patrolman Fred

Muddy water is all we can say about fishing this week. Quite a few dyed in the wool, never-die, hardy fishermen waded their lines but all returned singing "Muddy Water" and few had more than two or three fish. In spite of beautiful, sunny weather the "darn fish wouldn't cooperate". Both salt and fresh water anglers with whom we talked had little luck during the past seven days but most were anxiously waiting for the weekend so they could try again.

Big news is on the hunting scene, having heard of several deer being bagged prior to closing of the season last Saturday. About the only thing left to hunt are rabbits, opossums and raccoons. The season for rabbits extends through Feb. 10 while opossums and coons may be taken through Jan. 31.

We hear young Hayward Ne-calse had quite a time bagging a 66-pound deer. He said over the phone from Kiln that it seemed somebody had shot him about a mile up from where he was on stand. The dogs got the buck in a creek and Hayward shot him

Tax Deputy Post Filled

The board of supervisors Friday unanimously approved Mrs. Clair Mitchell of Kiln, former bookkeeper for ex-Chancery Clerk A. C. Mitchell, as assistant to George Heitzmann, county tax assessor, at a salary of $225 a month. James Ne-calse moved for her appointment and I. M. Fris-ton seconded it.

At a previous session, the board had stalled on Heitzmann's recommendation of Mrs. Katherine Mayer of Waveland for the job.

Meanwhile Sheriff Gerald Price has named James Ladner of De-daux as an additional deputy, bringing his force to 16. John Kachler has been named chief criminal deputy and Teddy Morel will be prison guard rather than night prison guard as previously reported. Price added, Chancery Clerk Claiborne Ladner said he expects to name a new auditor and bookkeeper within a week as James A. Rhyme, first named to the post, has been unable to accept it.

COLONELS NAMED...

three times with his .12 gauge.

Lucas Pucheu says he hasn't been out in a couple of weeks because he hurt his back. He claims he slipped a disc and it's not true he got caught in his pressing machine.

Willard Gavagnie and Leroy Luke continue their weekly pilgrimage into the fresh water fishing country trying the Jordan River last Saturday with little luck. "Got one and lost one," said Willard.

The water was muddy around Ansley Tuesday. John Green reports but he and Claiborne Fayard got home with four nice specks caught near the railroad bridge in Pearl River on lures. John says the biggest catch of the day was eight in Three Oaks.

Fred Garner caught four specks around the same area Tuesday weighing about two pounds each. Marvin MacArthur of Biloxi brought his aunt, Georgia (Beck) Ladner of Washington Street a deer he shot on a game reserve in Pascagoula last week. The neighbors said it was the best venison they ever ate.

We learned from a report of the National Geographic Society that fish do not have vocal organs but make sounds, such as the croaker, by grinding their teeth or rapid vibration of special muscles attached to the swim bladder. The famed cod also adds to the underwater cacophony. At a recent international fish conference in New York, a British scientist reported that codfish have developed a social order and seemingly communicate by a series of grunts. "The inflections vary according to the activity," the report said, "fighting, courtship, or what may amount to idle gossip."

Well, what do you know. Wonder if the mama cod sit around playing bridge and trading gossip while papa cod is working at the sponge factory or something.

Graph illustrates increase in United's industrial gas sales.

"Growing like 60" all through the '50s

The 1950's were big years for United Gas customers. Our industrial customers, for example, used nearly three times as much gas in 1959 as they did in 1949.

Our total gas deliveries exceeded one trillion cubic feet in each of the last seven years - compared with a half-trillion in 1949.

It cost United Gas big money to meet the increasing demand for gas service - some $600 million invested in the 1950's in production, pipe line and distribution facilities. That's well over one million dollars a week over the past ten years spent right here in the Gulf South to keep ahead of the gas requirements of this dynamic, expanding area.

Let's keep the welcome mat out

Because of many years of hard work on the part of public spirited citizens, Mississippi has been able to attract many new industries to the state. The money which those new industries put to work building factories, creating more jobs, improving the economy of the state was spent with the expectation that they would be able to make a fair profit.

Let's keep the welcome mat out, and create a climate which will make it possible for investment capital to earn a reasonable profit... including the more than 53 million dollars your phone company has spent during the past 3½ years to improve and expand telephone service to keep step with a growing Mississippi.

To continue attracting new industries into the state, both the new and the old must be allowed to earn a reasonable profit.

To The Property Owners of Hancock County:

At a meeting held on January 12, 1960, the following Real Estate Brokers agreed to raise the commission on residential property from five to six per cent. This is being done due to the increased cost of operations. This rate has been charged in most of the large cities for some time. Said rate will become effective February 1, 1960.
